Genre	Story, Fantasy, Imaginary Story Telling

Composition	Literary Element(s) A magical and imaginative system of reality. Introduction: Who's doing what, when and where. Body: Plot driven with rising tension. Could be dialogue driven or a series of smaller events climaxing to the conclusion and resolution. Conclusion: Resolves with a triumphant climax and/or resolution. Theme: Good vs. Evil, The Quest, Strength over Adversity, Coming of Age, Perseverance, Adaptation, Honest, etc.  A) Cause and Effect B) Problem/Solution C) Compare & Contrast D) Dialogue (a must) E) Figurative Language (Similes, Metaphors, Hyperbole, etc.) F) Perspective (first, third person)	Paragraphs 3+ Similar to a drama in nearly every way with an imaginative magical setting, and the use of magical powers from the characters. Congruence is important to this altered reality. Though imaginative, it must be believable. All the same literary elements as a drama. Readers should get a sense of the main characters motivation, personality, and mood. He/she/it needs to have a noticeable change as drama is developed. Any one of these elements (A-F) or a combination of them can move the story along. Needs a dramatic rise and fall throughout the body.
Complexity	The reader should come a way with a deeper understanding of the characters' struggle to improve themselves and others, or how they overcame difficult circumstances.	The Lexile® can be very broad. Anywhere from L350 to L1000 would be acceptable.
Suggestions	This is a challenging genre in which "super humans" share the same drama and limitations as humans. If you read fantasy novels you will have a richer understanding of how to create imaginary worlds that work.	Characters share the same emotional limitations and challenges as most dramatic characters. Cut and paste the genre into your web browser for more suggestion and ideas.
